HANDSOME LOUISINE BLOUSE.

Novelty In Heels -- Ince Boleros Boned Taffeta Waists - A Spring Turban-Guimpes and Short Puffed Sleeves on Little Girls' Frocks.

The princess style, which is having such a vogue, should not be used for the wedding gown. Most dressmakers seem to forget the Important fact that the bride, the cynosure of all eyes, stands during the ceremony with her back to the entire assemblage of spectators, and the mere fact of the gown being fastened in the back precludes a good line there or any trimming

The princess skirt topped with a jaunty little bolero is a model that is high in favor at present. A recent variation of this was found in the tablier all the way down the front of the skirt. This is one of the means whereby the required straight front line is achieved and the princess effect gained.

The princess gown appears among the "Rib" dresses, but how it is to be successfully laundered is a much vexed

Little boleros of lace worn over slips of chiffon or mousseline de sole are very popular just now for afternoon bridge parties. They have wide cape sleeves, terminating a little above the elbow to allow plent; of space for the filmy undersleeves. The favorite lace for this purpose is Irish guipure, inset with medallions of fine lawn embroidered in roses or bunches of flowers.

The newest thing in corset covers is the boned taffeta and fine jersey waists. The latter is tight fitting and often takes the place of the corset for thin people when wearing loose frocks and is worn by full figures as a corse cover. Many of these waists are laced in the back and on the shoulders.

The hat illustrated is one of the new spring turban shapes. It is charmingly evolved in a rough tan straw faced with tobacco brown velvet. About the crown is a twist of velvet, and at the side is a large bird with wings spreading downward on the hair.

The Big Pickpockets Are the Speculators

THE portraits of the BIGGEST PICKPOCKETS of the country do NOT HANG IN THE ROGUES' GAL-LERY. The man who TAKES MONEY WHICH HE HAS NOT HONESTLY EARNED from the pockets of the people at the gambling table or IN THE SPECU-LATOR'S SHOP or in the industry in which young children are ground up in the sweatshop in order to supply cheap goods is FAR MORE A ROBBER than the petty thief on the streets.

In the life of the baby, the child and the young man we recognize that things are made for the baby, the child and the collegian, but when the young man leaves college and enters business this whole order is reversed and OUR AMERICAN PEOPLE SEEM TO ACCEPT it as a truth THAT MAN WAS MADE FOR THINGS and the MEASURE OF A MAN IS THE AMOUNT OF MONEY

What a curious phenomenon this is, but that it is true of many

Compound Gives Positive
Safe, Quick, Reliable Regulator of our people no one of you can doubt.

IF WE ARE TO ACCEPT IT AS TRUE, LET US CHANGE THE STARS IN OUR FLAG TO DOLLAR MARKS AND OUR MOTTO FROM "IN GOD WE TRUST" TO "BE SUCCESSFUL HONESTLY IF YOU CAN, BUT BE SUCCESSFUL."

I was recently talking with a noted lawyer in New York, who told me that for a large number of wrong and immoral methods of business practiced in New York city to a large extent THERE WAS NO PUNISHMENT IN THE STATUTES of that place. The law was codified years ago, and since then both the law and crime have increased, but crime has outstripped the laws. Can it be said that money -the badge of ability to discern between THE DISHONESTY THAT IS ILLEGAL AND THAT NOT ILLEGAL-is a sign of

I have heard temperance orators say that the saddest tragedy of life was that offered by a bright young man going forth into the world and blasting his hopes by drunkenness. But it seems to me that the picture of a young man leaving college WITH HIGH IDEALS OF MANHOOD AND LIFE, entering business and there learning to conform to business standards, LOSING HIS CONSCIENCE AND MORAL DISCERNMENT, is a far sadder tragedy and one as frequently if not MORE FREQUENTLY SEEN than the other,

The Proper Place of Athletics In High School Life

By FASSETT A. COTTON, Indiana Superintendent of Public Instruction

HE TENDENCY on the part of the high schools TO APE COLLEGE LIFE is to be discouraged always, for the reason that most frequently the least desirable phases are copied. Secret societies have no place in the high school and should not be tolerated. Class yells and class colors and excessive class spirits are very frequently BREEDERS OF ROWDYISM.

It is not the intention at all to convey the impression that there to be no FUN OR JOY in the high school. On the contrary, every day should be full of joy and cheer that come with doing good work and living for something that is worth while,

CLASS "SCRAPS," HAZING AND ROWDYISM ARE NEITHER HU. United States, one of the greatest MOROUS NOR CONDUCIVE TO REAL MANHOOD AND WOMAN. enterprises ever attempted.

Athletic work has assumed a place in the school world that is simply OUT OF ALL PROPORTION TO ITS MERITS. It has taken possession of our colleges and universities to such an extent that in the student world an institution is judged by its athletics. But there is a tendency just at present on the part of some colleges and universities to throw off the voke. This intense athletic spirit has taken hold of some of our high schools and in some instances seems to be the DOMINANT FORCE.

However, every high school should be equipped with a good gymnasium and the boys and girls should have constant systematic training in PHYSICAL CULTURE. This training should be supplemented with play. Interclass games can be made healthful and helpful sport and can be kept secondary to the real purpose of school life.
